A Note From Leo:

Thank you very much for checking with the RITC Nationals. Everyone who checked did a great job. I heard no complaints about the checkers, only complements. The best was that New England had a great group of checkers who know the rules and know how to behave in the sections. I think that the riders appreciated your fair and consistent checking in some difficult conditions. Thanks again, Leo

Trials Fundamentals School by Tim Thorpe

On Saturday and Sunday, October 28-29th, and Saturday and Sunday, November 25-26th (Thanksgiving weekend), I will be instructing a two-day trials schools intended for NETA Novice through Advanced riders, at my home in Cumberland, RI. Each school's objective is to give an in-depth review of modern trials techniques with demonstrations, practice sessions and coaching. Each school is limited to 10 riders. If you are interested, don't wait--The last school in June filled fast and I had to put six people on a wait-list for a future class. For a detailed breakdown of the topics covered, please go to www.newenglandtrials.org. The Class donation is $95 for either two-day school. (As of 9/19, there is one seat left in the October school and eight in the November school.)

Pro Workshop by Ryan Young

On Saturday and Sunday, November 4-5th, the RITC is hosting a "Pro Workshop" instructed by Ryan Young. Ryan is a six-time National Champion, the US Sherco importer, and a sponsor and coach for the Sherco national trials team. The workshop is geared toward more experienced riders who have an understanding of the modern trials techniques, but want a lot of rider-specific coaching. The workshop will be held at the RITC site in Exeter, RI. Class size will be limited to 7 riders. The cost will be in the $300-$360 range per rider for the workshop, depending on the number of participants and once I know final costs. (As of 9/19, there are two seats left.)

School sign-up process

If you are interested in the Trials Fundamentals Schools or the Ryan Young Pro Workshop, please send me an email stating which class you are interested in and I will get back to you with availability and instructions.
